The Community College Survey of Student Engagement (CCSSE) is approaching.

Don’t let the most powerful voice on our campus go unheard!

Skyline College will participate in a national survey focused on teaching, learning, and retention in community colleges. Research shows that more actively engaged students are more likely to persist in their college studies and achieve at higher levels. Identifying what our students do in and out of the classroom, knowing their goals, and understanding their external responsibilities can help us create an environment to enhance student learning, development, and retention.

In March, instructors whose classes are selected will receive specific information from the Planning, Research and Institutional Effectiveness office. In April, the survey will be administered in the randomly selected classes. We encourage you to participate!
