Ex Libris Contract Signed (/news/ex-libris-contract-signed)

The contract has been signed with Ex Libris to deliver its cloud-based library services platform (LSP) to all California community colleges that opt in. This fall, a group of approximately ten "vanguard" colleges will participate in a trial run of data migration and creation of a functional work environment. The experiences of these colleges will inform the migration and implementation project undertaken by all participating colleges in a single phase, beginning in January, 2019. The project will be broken into numerous discrete steps with check-ins throughout.

Library Services Platform

(/sites/default/files/lsp-timeline.png)

The Library Services Platform (LSP) project is a state funded effort to provide all California community colleges with a shared solution to replace existing Integrated Library Systems at individual colleges. The California Legislature funded the project through the state's 2017 budget, which kicked off a request for proposals process and culminated in the selection of the proposal submitted by the Ex Libris Group. The selected proposal includes Ex Libris' Alma/Primo LSP. Anticipated system-wide go live is December 2019 or January 2020.
