

The Power of NCORE Series

start the conversation

The Power of NCORE at Skyline College is a series of workshops that feature presenters who have served as Skyline College Delegates to the National Conference on Race & Ethnicity (NCORE) in Higher Education. NCORE Delegates bring their experience and knowledge to the CTTL in the form brown bag discussions, activities, and/or workshops during the academic year as a way to foster critical conversations and explorations on social justice issues relevant to our Skyline College community.

Intersectional Approaches to Supporting LGBTQ+ Students of Color (Brown Bag Series)

Facilitator: Jorge Murillo,
Program Services Coordinator, EOPS/CARE & CalWORKs

Tuesday, March 20, 2018
1:00 pm - 2:00 pm

Led by NCORE 2018 Conference Delegate, Jorge Murillo, this brown bag discussion workshop is part of the Power of NCORE at Skyline College Series and will focus on the ways in which Skyline College staff and faculty can support LGBTQ+ Students of Color. Participants of this workshop will: 1) understand intersectionality as it relates to the experiences of LGBTQ+ Students of Color in higher education; and 2) engage in a discussion about the ways in which Skyline College can enhance the educational experience of LGBTQ+ Students of Color.

Engaging in Self-Care as Leadership

Facilitator: Liza Erpelo, English Professor

Tuesday, April 10, 2018
2:00 pm - 3:00 pm

What prevents us from practicing self-care? How can we reconcile our own self-care in the context of being deeply committed to our communities? How is self-care connected to your leadership? How can self-care lead to liberation? These are some of the questions we will be wrestling with in this 60-minute interactive session as we engage in conversations about self-care at the intersections of our identities, how it can shape our connections with each other and our communities, and how it can inspire our own leadership. As part of the Power of NCORE at Skyline College Series, NCORE 2017 Conference Delegate, Liza Erpelo, will lead participants in this interactive session. Join her in a discussion of the challenges of practicing self-care, and generate a list of ways that self-care can help us connect to our communities and our leadership.

Exploring Resources for Achieving Equity Outside the Classroom (Brown Bag Session)

Facilitator: Michele Haggar,
Program Services Coordinator, Career Services

Thursday, April 26, 2018
12:10 pm - 1:00 pm

As part of the Power of NCORE at Skyline College Series, NCORE 2017 Conference Delegate, Michele Haggar, will lead participants in a brown bag exploration/discussion of resources that staff members can use to understand equity, unconscious biases, and intersectionality in Higher Education that will help contribute to student success outside of the classroom. Exposure to these resources and professional development opportunities will help introduce participants to the skills and knowledge they can use to guide them in working towards creating an equitable and inclusive campus that contributes to student success.

Location of all Workshops: Bldg. 1 Room 1-311F, CTTL Learning Space
