Business will forever be about WHO you know!
So we want to introduce YOU
to the existing bio-economy community, who KNOW how to get your ideas and products to market faster.

On October 6th, SynBioBeta and Ginkgo Bioworks will host the 1st annual Race Against the Clock student and start up welcome party, that will introduce and celebrate the next generation of bio-based "Gonna Be's" to the current bio-economy community.

This is not a traditional start up competition, as we can only win the race to true sustainability by working together! Instead, Race Against the Clock will provide game changing opportunities for students and start ups to showcase the the bio-based solutions they are chasing to industry thought leaders, investors, companies and consultants who can accelerate their time to market.

So, if you are a bio-founder in need of strategic connections or a student considering using your gifts to further the bio-economy,

WE WANT TO HEAR FROM YOU!
